FAQ

1. My child is advanced for their age, can they move up in age groups?

- a. We have strict age limits within our camp sessions. Our instructors are able to differentiate plans for campers with different skill levels. We ask that everyone sign up for the appropriate session based on the age that your camper will be when the session starts.

2. I have a full day camper and a half day camper, and that carpool schedule is not working for me!

- a. If you have two campers that are right on the cusp of half day and full day, and you'd like for them to be on the same carpool schedule, we ask that you sign them both up for half day sessions. If you believe this will not be a good fit for your campers, you can email kelli@riveternc.com.

3. Can we store our bikes on site for the duration of the camp week?

- a. Unfortunately, we have extremely limited storage for bikes and therefore can not store camper's bikes on site. Please reach out kelli@riveternc.com if this is a barrier for participation or if you will need assistance in unloading/loading bikes.

4. Why is Friday a half day?

- a. We use the Friday afternoon to offer an opportunity for parents/guardians to share in the Riveter experience with their camper(s); as mentioned above, a free parent/guardian pass is included with camp and you and your camper can hang out for the rest of the day!

5. Will you prorate camp if we miss a day?

- a. No, we can not prorate for any reason. Camp sessions are a set cost based on staffing and supplies to run camp.

6. My camper only wants to do one of the activities offered during Rivet Camp, can they just elect to ride/climb the whole time and not participate in the other activity?

- a. Rivet Campers should be motivated/interested to try their hand at both activities. While we support challenge by choice and there are many different opportunities for them to step out of their comfort zones at a level that feels appropriate for them, campers do not have the option of skipping the zone switch altogether. Rivet Camp is designed to expose your child to two fun and challenging activities in a welcoming environment.

7. How can I ensure that my camper is prepared for camp, or ease any nerves?

- a. We welcome beginners to our facility, and many people come to camp having never set foot on our dirt jumps or in our climbing gym before. Each camp group goes through a full orientation of the facility, Riveter policies/rules, and an overview of camp at the start of session. If you feel that a preliminary trip could ease the mind of you and/or your camper, this visit would provide a safety orientation from one of our qualified staff members, an opportunity for questions, and time to explore the Riveter at your own pace and experience all that the Riveter has to offer. Ask for the Program Director during your trip; I'd love to come meet you!

We can't wait to see you for a SUMMER CAMP experience like no other! Please email our Program Director, Sarah Rhoades at kelli@riveternc.com with any additional questions about 2024 Riveter Camp opportunities.
